

MILES TEMP

@florintein

Miles Temp is carving out a name as a distinctive singer-songwriter equipped only with a sample pad, acoustic guitar, synth and deeply heartfelt songs based from his home in Liverpool. His take on “bedroom pop” fuses acoustics, synth textures, subtle beats, expressive piano lines, and rich layered harmonies. Reviews consistently praise him as a talent beyond his years, noting his vulnerable lyricism, lo-fi styles and expressive, soul-stirring vocals.

Miles won the BBC Radio 1 Open Mic slot, performing at Radio 1's Big Weekend on the BBC Introducing stage in May 2025, gaining support from Jess Iszatt on Radio1. Support from BBC Introducing continues into 2026 as well as continued support from John Kennedy on RadioX receiving multiple X-Posure Hot Ones and playing a live session in the Radio X studio down in London.

He continues into 2026, playing at Focus Wales and The Great Escape down in Brighton, performing two stages across the weekend. As well as winning the Kempston Street Future Fund for winter 2026.

“Absolutely smashed it on stage”

— Jess Iszatt, Radio 1 (Big Weekend/BBC Introducing Stage)

“Somebody who could well end up playing music for the next 25 30 years... this is absolutely extraordinary”

— John Kennedy, RadioX
